Abstract

This collection consists of the papers of William McG. Morrison, the fifty-seventh mayor of Charleston, who served three terms between 1947 and 1959. The collection contains correspondence, newspaper clippings, proclamations and resolutions, plats, plans, studies and reports, speeches, contracts, and photographs.

Background

William McG. Morrison was born in McClellanville, South Carolina, to Henry Toomer Morrison and Sadie McGillivray Morrison on January 8, 1903. He attended McClellanville public schools prior to graduating from Clemson University with a degree in law. Morrison worked for the City of Charleston as Assistant Corporation Counsel from 1930-1934 and Master-in-Equity for Charleston County from 1935 until his election as mayor in 1947. He won reelection in 1951 and 1955, but lost the 1959 election to J. Palmer Gaillard. In 1957 Morrison underwent radiation treatment for throat cancer. The cancer treatment gradually took its toll, and Morrison spent his final months as mayor conducting city business from his home at 103 South Battery Street. He passed away on January 1, 1960.

Scope and Content Note

The collection is organized alphabetically according to topic, document type, or the originating individual or department. The material found in the collection includes correspondence, newspaper articles, proclamations, resolutions, plats, plans, studies and reports, speeches, contracts, and photographs.

Mayor Morrison's tenure took place during a time of rapid growth and expansion in Charleston. Although the city's annexation of Saint Andrews Parish did not take place until the tenure of J. Palmer Gaillard, much of the groundwork necessary for expansion was undertaken during the administration of Mayor Morrison. Under Morrison's direction, the City extended numerous streets and thoroughfares. He initiated changes in traffic patterns in order to increase accessibility to the central business district on the peninsula. Morrison likewise played a central role in the development of the Bushy Park Authority, the establishment of Charleston Air Force Base, and the expansion of naval activities, thus providing increased economic stability to the Charleston region.
